

Crime

Crime is on the rise.

There are many reasons for this: efforts to demean the police; defunding of the police by liberal politicians who want chaos in our communities; failure by prosecutors to enforce laws and the philosophy that society is responsible for creating the criminals.

No one wants to be a victim of crime. Although only a small percentage of us will be the victim of a crime, we all worry about it. That's because the number and horror of violent crime has grown because of the issues identified above.

I will propose and support legislation to protect us from prosecutors who refuse to do their job.
